Bad Legislation

The appeal court has upheld the right of the B.C. Bar Association to prevent a man from practising law in this province because he was a Communist. Thus, it may be presumed, the affair which has held the interest of people in this province for more than a year is settled. A man, who had been allowed to take his university training and graduate, upon graduation was told that he would not be allowed to practise, not because he was not legally qualified, but because he held political beliefs of which "the Benchers" did not approve.

The Martin case is a very sticky blot upon the record of the legal fraternity in this province and serves to highlight an unfortunate practice that has been allowed to grow to dangerous lengths in this province. We refer to bad legislation that has been passed creating closed corporations in many of the professions.

In recent years a number of bills have been passed giving powers to bodies of professional men to set up their own boards of governors and to regulate entry into the profession, make their own bylaws, charge entry fees and examination fees for qualifications (which they may alter at will) and otherwise regulate members.

Such legislation gives a group of individual citizens power to exercise law relating to their affairs outside the legal system of the state. This newspaper considers that such powers granted to private citizens is not in the public interest.

The right way to enable the community to have the services of professional men regulated is for the state to establish standards that will be uniform and under public control; and for recognized educational bodies to pass on qualifications, for the same reason. There is little justification for the power of the state to be handed over to a group of private citizens.

Road-Making Standards

Probably one of the most valuable results to come out of the Dominion-Provincial agreement regarding the Trans-Canada Highway is not the highway itself but the adoption by the provinces of a uniform standard of road construction. The standards adopted for the Trans-Canada have been worked out by consultation among highway engineers of the federal and all ten provincial governments. According to Ottawa reports, they call for a twenty-four-foot pavement strip, with ten-foot shoulders generally, but a minimum of five feet in special circumstances. The surface can be either concrete or asphalt, but must be three inches thick and rest on a screened-gravel or crushed-rock base capable of supporting a maximum axle load of 18,000 pounds.

Obviously these requirements will be more effective under some climatic and ground conditions than others. The important thing is that they are now recognized as a minimum for an all-year road of potentially heavy traffic by all types of vehicles. Having established a standard, there is no need to confine it to the Trans-Canada Highway. In this province, recent highway construction has been better than this agreed standard and the manner in which the new highways stood up under the rigors of the past winter is ample justification for the adoption of this policy, but in this province and in the other nine provinces the Trans-Canada minimum standards could be extended into county and municipal road construction for which provincial grants furnish a substantial part of the outlay. In this province, of course, where there is no country setup, the province is responsible for all roads other than those in municipalities.

In every province an unfortunate number of roads have been built with too little regard to basic standards. The penalty has come in high maintenance costs which quickly swallowed up any original savings that may have been made. Much of this grief can be obviated if yardsticks are used with the same care that apparently has been given to the Trans-Canada Highway.

Reading Becoming a Lost Art

Sackville Tribune-Post

At an educational gathering recently held, a prominent teacher made the plain statement that, even in advanced grades, it was difficult to find a student who could read a couple of paragraphs "without making your hair stand on end." He added that this could apply equally to all forms of reading, oral, mental or visual.

For generations, "reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic" have been regarded as the fundamentals of even elementary education, with reading perhaps the most essential. If such is the case, the teaching of reading seems to be producing lamentable results.

The members of the rising generation are simply not a reading folk. They are generally smart, intelligent young people, quick on the uptake, often quite good in their classes, but books as such mean little to them except as the mechanical tools of the classroom.

It is the common complaint of business executives that, when they engage stenographers, often they cannot spell and as for the "King's English, many of them do not know even the most elementary construction of a sentence.

Young people in general do not read enough to get the rhythm of words and the knowledge that lies between the covers of a book does not seem to be worth while investigating. Consequently they cannot acquire the knowledge of things outside their own orbit that would make them citizens of the world, nor can they retire to the enchanted land made accessible through the printed word.

Reading can bring before the mind the storied past—the civilization of the ancients, the rise and fall of mighty dynasties, comedies and tragedies that mirror that whole range of human emotion and experience. To those seeking information, it is there; to those seeking entertainment, pleasure-filled hours are before them.

Why is it then that many of our young people are pushing good literature aside in favor of the "funnies" and the "comics"? Is it because they are not being properly introduced to the magic of the written word, either in the school or in the home?

Whatever it is, the fact remains that our young people are not filling in their background with good reading. This should be a matter of grave concern to those who have the future of our country at heart.

WELCOME CITY ALDERMAN HOME

Alderman Jack Ladd was officially welcomed back to the city Monday night when he took his seat around the council table. Mayor W. D. Hughes-Games expressed the hope he and Mrs. Ladd had an enjoyable holiday during their visit to England. Alderman Ladd declared "It's nice to get back and get down to work again."

LATEST IN HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT was donated by Kelowna Lions Club to the Kelowna General Hospital, and in the picture taken at an informal ceremony last week, members of the hospital board are shown accepting the apparatus from representatives of the service club.

The equipment includes an abdominal suction pump; oxygen tent and gauges, and an oxygen tank carrier.

Trade Board's Publicity Booklet Declared Finest Publication Ever Issued

THE "Kelowna Booklet", prepared by The Courier for the Kelowna Board of Trade, was termed the "finest community publicity booklet ever produced, and compares more than favorably with anything issued by provincial government travel bureaus."

This tribute was paid by Larry Eeroyd, B.C. representative of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, at the quarterly dinner meeting held Thursday night in the Royal Anne Hotel. Having studied such booklets and similar publications throughout Canada and the United States, he said that it is a credit to Kelowna and all responsible for its publication.

Total of 71 members taxed the small dining room to its limit, and it was stated henceforth, quarterly dinner meetings would be held in the larger dining room. With president J. I. Monteith presiding, reports were tendered by committee chairmen. Applications from 24 new members, submitted by Don Fillmore, were approved by the organization.

Touching lightly on the membership question, guest speaker Larry Eeroyd said Vancouver had a membership of 2,900. If Kelowna achieved its objective this year of 300 members, the local organization, on a percentage of population basis, would have three times the number as the coastal city. Present membership is 250.

Referring to the Hope-Princeton highway, the speaker said an unprecedented number of coastal residents would be visiting the Okanagan and that the triangle tour would be widely travelled.

There is also a great incentive to hold provincial convention in the interior, he said. An attractive offer and sufficient hotel accommodation would ensure such revenue. At times Vancouver cannot handle all conventions, he added.

BYLAW FOR CITY HALL IS DELAYED

Due to certain technicalities, the $40,000 city hall bylaw will not be presented to Kelowna ratepayers next month.

This was revealed at Monday night's city council meeting when Mayor W. D. Hughes-Games said the bylaw is being held up by Victoria pending clarification of several points. However, the $50,000 aquatic bylaw, and the $75,000 electrical improvement bylaw will probably be presented on May 17, it was stated.

Unless the aquatic bylaw can be voted on, immediately, it will be useless, as the organization has to start renovating the club house in preparation for the 1950 regatta. The same applies to the electrical improvement bylaw. The city has to make certain changes to the system to overcome the anticipated power shortage during the packing season.

Commenting on the delay of the city hall bylaw, the mayor recalled that the money was obtained from several sources when council was endeavoring to build up the fund, and the department of municipal affairs has indicated the individual amounts may have to be covered in separate bylaws.

"There is nothing wrong with it. It's just a matter of getting around the technicalities," he declared.

C.P.R. OFFICIALS VISIT KELOWNA

H. C. James, general passenger agent, and Harry Newton, passenger traffic representative, Vancouver, were business visitors to Kelowna on Friday.

This was Mr. James' first visit to the city since he took over his new duties in Vancouver. Impressed with the Okanagan, he intends coming back again when blossoms are in full bloom.

HAPPY GANG WON'T APPEAR IN KELOWNA

Plans for the Happy Gang, famed Canadian radio show, to appear in Kelowna on June 28 during a cross-country tour have been dropped, according to the latest word from the east.

The stop-off here of the show that is tops in Canadian entertainment was to have been the only booking in the B.C. interior. Reason for cancelling plans wasn't known immediately.

In announcing cancellation of the tour, Memorial Arena manager Percy Downton disclosed arrangements, are nearing completion to have a first-class circus appear in the arena here around the end of June.

B.C. DRAGOONS SWEEP BOARD TO WIN CUPS

B.C. Dragoons made a clean sweep in Dominion-wide competition among units of the Royal Canadian Armored Corps Association, according to word received by Lt. Col. D. F. B. Kinloch, commander of the Okanagan regiment.

The awards are for standards of training attained on a regimental basis for the year ending Sept. 30, 1949 and may be presented by Brig. M. D. Bogert next Friday when he inspects the regiment in Vernon.

Vernon is the headquarters of the regiment, and "A" squadron is also located in the north Okanagan city. "B" squadron is located in Kelowna, and "C" squadron in Penticton. While seven trophies were up for competition, B.C. Dragoons were eligible for entering only five, and they made a royal sweep of these cups.

The trophies originally belonged to the Canadian Cavalry Association which has, since the war, been changed to the Royal Canadian Armored Corps Association, with various competitions being changed to suit armored corps units. This is the first time the cups have been awarded since the change.

The Dragoons won the Rawlinson Trophy, for wireless communications; the Stockwell Challenge Cup, for the best divisional reconnaissance regiment; the Merritt Challenge Cup, for the best R.C.A.C. regiment; Nash Memorial Challenge Cup, for driving and maintenance to the unit having the highest percentage of trained drivers and mechanics in the R.C.A.C.; and Westby Trophy, for the unit having the highest percentage of trained gunner-operators in the R.C.A.C.

LOCAL NURSES AMONG THOSE GRADUATING

A Benvoulin nurse, who graduated last week with 99 others at St. Paul's Hospital, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Johnson, Vernon road. The award was presented by Dr. George Lamont, Vancouver.

Miss Johnson intends to remain nursing at St. Paul's for the time being, according to her parents who attended the graduation ceremonies.

Other Kelowna and district St. Paul graduates were: Miss Doris Agnes Beaubien, Miss Leona Joyce Beebe, Miss Helene Mary Walrod, all of Kelowna, and Miss Vera Lorraine Pettullo of Oyanama. Royal Columbian hospital graduates included Miss Alice M. Broadhead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Broadhead, Westbank, and Miss Dorothy Cowie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cowie, 1007 Glenn avenue.

Miss Broadhead also won a medical nursing prize.

Local Ratepayers' Body Critical Over Present System Of Assessments

EVER-GROWING City of Kelowna Ratepayers Association Friday night went on record as being "dissatisfied" with the present system of assessments.

The resolution, adopted unanimously by the newly-formed association, is to be forwarded to City Council. The association will also advise city fathers that certain proposals will be advanced later.

Tenor of the discussions during the meeting at the Junior High School auditorium was that present assessments are "unfair and inequitable."

One speaker, who received heavy support from the meeting, said it wasn't fair for one family to be taxed for the "north end" and to have to pay as much as the "west end."

Encourage Improvements

Taking improvements was also criticized. One spokesman said there should be some way a man should be encouraged to make his home and property more attractive and not discouraged by an immediate boost in taxes.

A former Vancouver man who recently bought out a business here termed Kelowna's tax structure as "ridiculous." He said: "Had I known beforehand of the tax structure

J.C.'S PLAN "BOSSSES NIGHT"

Kelowna Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold a "bosses night" dinner at the Kelowna Golf Club tonight.

A large attendance is expected at the banquet.

Joint Collection Plan Is Proposed

FORMATION of a Community Chest in Kelowna will be recommended by the mayor's committee set up last December by a public meeting to study the matter and make recommendations. This was decided at a meeting of the committee held Thursday night, following an intensive study of the pros and cons of various joint collection plans with reference to the local situation.

After a four-hour final discussion, the committee decided that it would recommend the adoption of the full community chest program in this area. It took this step in the belief that any other joint collection plan could but be a temporary measure leading to the eventual adoption of the chest plan.

For many months, there has been a growing restiveness among both subscribers and canvassers about the multitude of collection canvasses that are being made in this area. One follows so quickly upon another that canvassers are on the street every week and subscribers are being approached about as often.

In December last, organizations throughout the city and rural area were asked to send representatives to a meeting to which the general public was also invited. After a lengthy discussion at that meeting, His Worship, Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games, was asked to form a committee to study the whole question. He appointed seven persons to whom two others were subsequently added.

It is this committee which after some months of study has decided to call a public meeting on Friday, June 2 and recommend to that meeting that a community chest be set up under the guidance of the Canadian Welfare Council.

An organization of this type is operating effectively in several Canadian communities smaller than Kelowna. These include such places as Espanola, Ontario; Preston, Ontario, and Drumheller, Alberta. Of the 59 community chests in Canada, many of them are in communities only slightly larger than Kelowna.

The basic idea behind the move is that under the guidance of an independent committee, a number of organizations desiring to raise funds Turn to Page 2, Story 1

New Aquatic Grandstand Depends On Ratepayers Passing $50,000 Bylaw

SPECTATORS to Kelowna's 44th annual Regatta on August 1 and 2 will be witnessing Canada's greatest water show from a modern streamlined grandstand, if present plans of the Aquatic Association materialize.

But the new seating accommodation, part of long-range development plans, hinges on whether Kelowna ratepayers approve a $50,000 bylaw which will be submitted to taxpayers on May 17. The Aquatic Association has undertaken to repay 50 per cent of the amount.

In the event the bylaw is defeated, it will be a death-dealing blow to Kelowna's Regatta, which every year is attracting more people from all parts of Canada and U.S. In this event, the show would still go on, but only on a much smaller scale.

Attendance has been increasing rapidly during recent years, that

Our Town

By JACK SCOTT

NO MAN'S LAND

My wife salvaged a few forlorn
bucks out of the budget last month and announced that she was going to buy a dress. "I am going to buy a dress," she said, "and you"—indicating me, "you are coming with me this time."

Well, we argued about it for a while, but it came out about as usual. She won.

We met in the early afternoon
and proceeded to a place I will call Yvette's Smart Shoppe. My wife drew me into a doorway as we approached and gave me my final orders. "Now whatever you do," she said, "don't try to be too awfully funny. If you see something you like, just wink your right eye. If you see something you like, wink
your left."

"Yes, dear," I said and throwing my shoulders back, we walked through the simple uranium door of Yvette's.

The outside of Yvette's may have been simple and unobtrusive, but the inside looked like RKO's idea of the powder room in a sultan's harem. A small, sunken garden of rare orchids bloomed in the centre of a room which seemed to be constructed entirely of rose-tinted mirrors.
Placed about the floor were insecure pieces of tubular furniture and several tubular saladies who advanced with brittle smiles.

While my wife was being carried off I seated myself cautiously on the edge of a chair which catapulted me briskly into the arms of an alabaster model wearing something in black lace.

I bowed in confusion and retreated to a more secure seat, lit a cigarette and looked about me. It was then I realized that the room was full of females gazing in my direction. I began rapidly crossing and uncrossing my knees, intently examining my nails and humming a tuneless little song, obviously a man perfectly at ease and wishing the trap door would open beneath him.

A saleslady sidled up to me as if she were making an appeal on balconies and stabbed me with a look. "Are you with somebody?" she asked, as if this were quite improbable. I gave her a wan smile and mumbled

a "yes."

I then realized my cigarette had burned down to a point where it might conceivably set fire to my fingers and not an ash tray in sight.
Rising up with all the poise of a Dromedary camel I ambulated to the far end of the room where a door seemed as if it might lead into an alleyway. As I nudged it open the portal I was greeted by a C-Sharp cry of indignation and caught a quick flash of pink latex enclosing what was obviously a large, irate woman.

Mumbling my apologies, I backtracked to safety and flicked my cigarette in among the orchids. A tiny wave of muffled giggles broke on the shore of my despair.

It was about this point that a stunning-looking creature, swathed
in some tawny velvet, stalked
up and fixed me with a frank gaze that set my temples pulsating. I responded with a suggestive lifting of the eyebrows.

"It must be quite a dress," a voice said. "He hasn't had his eyebrows that high for 10 years." Realizing that it was my wife, I allowed myself to sink into lethargy again.

"Well, how do you like it?" my wife said.

"Very nice," I said. I winked with my left eye to indicate that it was not my idea of what a decent woman would wear.

Instantly, there was a loud gasp from across the room. It was the stoutish lady I had previously disturbed. "That man winked at me," she whispered in a voice clearly heard six city blocks away. All eyes turned accusingly to me.

"I staggered to my feet, glanced quickly at my wrist watch (in a repair shop several miles away)
and cried hoarsely to my wife,
"Good Lord! I'm late for the atom bomb conference!"

In no time at all I was back in my office, dabbling my feet in cold cloth and filling out my application for the nearest monastery.

More About 1 CALL MEETING

by public subscription, band together and one canvass is made on their behalf.

In the final analysis, the committee gave consideration to two plans:
a community chest and a united welfare fund.

The united welfare fund is simply an organization by which a group of agencies endeavor to raise the funds required for the support
through a single joint appeal instead of separately. In this type of organization, each agency determines the budget necessary for its work
and there is no review of budgets
by a budget committee. It is purely a local organization.

The campaign committee of a joint fund endeavors to raise through the united campaign the total budgets of the participating agencies and when the campaign is completed the funds available are distributed among the participating groups. There is no year-round responsibility taken for the financial arrangements of the agencies, nor is any attention given to the quality of service rendered by the participating agencies, to overlapping of services, or to gaps in the community welfare program.

Community Chest
On the other hand, the community chest plan goes much further. A community chest is a co-operative organization of citizens and welfare agencies. It raises funds each year primarily for its affiliated agencies. The chest itself is not a relief or social agency. The funds which it secures are raised by a community-wide appeal and are distributed in accordance with a systematic budget procedure.

The chest, also, through a community welfare council, promotes effective planning, co-ordination and administration of the social welfare, health and recreational service of the community.

A community chest organization
here would call for the setting up of two committees of probably fifteen persons each. The first would be the chest proper, which would be the fund raising body. It would conduct the campaign and arrange for the distribution of the funds.

Welfare Council
The other committee would be the "welfare council" and it would carry the primary responsibility of planning and co-ordinating the entire community social welfare program. It is the social planning partner of the chest.

Social planning is designed to make possible, through study and conference, the development and continuous revision of the total program of community health and welfare services. The process of study and conference toward development
and revision would include representatives of both private and tax-supported agencies and citizen organizations. And their purpose should be the full utilization of not only the total financial resources
but also of the resources of knowledge and understanding of community needs and services that result from such study and conference.

There are 1,250 community chests operating in the United States and 51 in Canada. The chests in Canada serve about one-third of the total population.

Lower Cost

It has been well proven that joint campaigns are more economical and efficient than separate campaigns for different organizations. The Canadian Welfare Council has deonstrated to the local committee that separate campaigns cost anywhere from 15% to 75% of the money collected. On the other hand the central financing scheme reduces the cost to as low as 2% for the actual campaign and even with full-time administration costs
the figure does not reach beyond 7 1/2%.

The advantages claimed for the community chest idea include:
(a) More money is obtained from more givers, thus assuring universal and more adequate support of necessary social and health service.
(b) Economies in the use of volunteer service and the cost of money raising and financial administration are made.

(c) Co-ordination of agencies is placed on a rational basis and hence

DAIRY LICENCE IS EXTENDED THREE WEEKS

Renovations to Roth's dairy on Harvey Avenue, were not completed at the time the local medical health officer, Dr. Helen Zeman, inspected the premises, and following receipt of a report to this effect,
city council Monday night approved granting an extension of three weeks until renovation plans are completed.

Recently council decided that a city by-law, requiring dairies to be housed in a separate building, did not apply, in view of the fact there is no bottling or pasteurizing being carried on in the building.

Dr. Zeman informed council that the provincial health department will be notified that the city has decided to drop a section of the bylaw pertaining to dairy requirements.

encouraged and improved.

(d) As a result of the relief from the eternal scheming to raise money the heads of the various organizations participating in the chest
are better able to devote their talents to better community service.

The setting of the campaign quota is not a haphazard affair. Long before the campaign starts in the city, the chest directors and representatives of all the chest agencies
study the activities and expenditures of every member group financed by the chest to determine the amount of money needed to carry on their complete work program for the ensuing year. These studies are then passed upon by the chest directors.

Better Results
Experience has proven that the participating groups generally obtain more money through a joint effort than through single campaigns. The formation of a chest generally results in an increase in the number of givers. Whereas before people gave casually and often irregularly, the chest provides the impetus to give more which results in greater sums being available for the work of the participating agencies.

A group participating in the chest
of course does not in any sense lose its identity or the control of its affairs.

Local Adjustments
The mayor's committee appreciates that certain local adjustments and decisions that must be made before a chest can be operated here.

For instance, will it be a city effort alone or should the rural areas be brought in? Will the rural areas be able to come into the scheme?

Such questions as these, of course would have to be settled by the committee that is set up, provided the whole idea is acceptable to the general public.

The committee believes that a chest should be formed provided at least six participating groups are interested in joining. It is felt that once the organizational work is over and the public understands the workings of the chest, other participating groups will be anxious to join.

The committee feels that the community would be better served and the individual participating groups benefit more if a dozen or more of these groups joined the joint campaign effort. However, it is recognized that, at the moment at least,
the Red Cross is violently opposed to joining the proposed chest because its officers fear its "take"
would be less than at the present
when it gets the benefit of a large
over-subscription.

A group of six, however, would cut the present number of canvassers by five and a group of a dozen would cut the canvassers by eleven. This would be a substantial advance over the present situation both from the givers, the organizers and the canvassers viewpoints.

Outside Support
The committee points out that one important feature should not be overlooked. This is the co-ordinated publicity. Chest campaigns with the familiar "red feather" insignia are conducted throughout Canada and the United States at the same time in the fall. Thus the local campaign would reap much benefit through the advertising and publicity in national, regional,
newspapers and radio hookups.

His Worship is calling a public meeting to discuss the committee recommendation on Friday, June 2.
This date has been chosen that all organizations and clubs may have an opportunity of discussing the matter and sending an official representative, while individuals may have ample opportunity of arranging to attend.

N.H.A. DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH

The modern concept of the "ideal" house plan, at least to families of average income, is one which affords spacious living accommodation within a minimum-sized and moderately-priced house. Typical of post-war houses designed to meet both of these requirements is this attractive bungalow in which every foot of available floor space has been utilized to the utmost advantage.

The house has been designed primarily for a wide inside lot and boasts a good-sized living room,
a separate dining room, kitchen,
two bedrooms and bath. Direct access to the outside is afforded by the entrance
hall which contains a coat closet,
to most rooms is afforded by the entrance
hall which contains a coat closet.

Measuring 11'8"x18', the living room features a fireplace and enables good furniture arrangement. The large living room window—which the Ottawa owner of the house illustrated
has changed into a bay window—greatly enhances the appearance of the house.

The bedrooms are situated on one side of the house with the bathroom conveniently located between them. There are four closets in addition to the coat closet off the entrance hall.

Stucco has been used as the exterior finish for the house illustrated with wood siding applied horizontally on the gable ends. However, any other type of finish could be used throughout the exterior dimensions
would have to be increased approximately one foot for brick veneer or solid masonry.

For estimating purposes, exterior
measurements of the house are 37 feet, eight inches, by 27 feet, and the area is 905 square feet.

Complete construction drawings for this plan, known as Design 50-1,
are available from any office of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Oil makes a country strong

Try to imagine life without oil. Oil supplies one-quarter of all the heat and power we use . . . in home and factory, on farm and highway. It helps us live better.

For years Canadians have had to depend on foreign countries for almost all the oil they used. Now, after a long and costly search, big new fields have been found in Alberta.

The more oil we produce right here in Canada the stronger
we will be. Already the new discoveries have made thousands of new jobs. Millions of U.S. dollars once needed for imported oil are now being saved by the new oil fields,
and the prairie consumers are saving money too.

In order that Canadians may reap further benefits, Alberta oil must reach new markets. It must be moved to eastern Canada—2,000 miles away—where it must compete with oil from other areas. That means holding transport costs down to a minimum.

To bring Alberta oil east a tube of steel will span one-third of the continent—from Edmonton to Lake Superior. It is taking shape now. To carry the oil on to Ontario refineries, the largest inland tankers ever built are being constructed in Canadian yards.

There's a big job still to be done before the full benefits of the new oil discoveries reach all Canadians. But the job is being carried on with increasing benefit to all of us. Oil is strengthening the nation.

Bringing you oil is a big job
... and a costly one

About Canada's Oil—Last year Canadians used an average of 300 gallons of oil each. This is more, per capita, than any nation except the United States.

By replacing imports, Canadian oil production is expected to save 100 million scarce U.S. dollars in 1950; next year, $145 millions.

Imperial is building a new refinery at Winnipeg at a cost of $10 millions to process Alberta Oil.

The 1,180-mile pipe line from Edmonton to Lake Superior is being built by Interprovincial Pipe Line Co., which was sponsored by Imperial and in which Imperial holds a minority interest.

JENNENS GETS CONTRACT FOR ARENA FLOOR

Growth of figure skating appeal was probably the dominant development at the new Kerrisdale arena, according to Manager Mel Holmes, in Kelowna on a business trip.

While minor hockey, too, made great strides in the arena's first year of operation, it was the phenomenal growth of figure skating at a city in no way renowned for ice skating conditions that stood out as the 1949-50 Kerrisdale community arena highlight.

Mr. Holmes said by the end of the season, just concluded, the Kerrisdale figure skating club embraced the largest membership in North America. There are two other figure skating clubs in the city, both centred at the Forum in Hastings Park.

Questioned about the report some time ago that Kerrisdale Monarchs had dropped $50,000 on their first year's operations, Mr. Holmes opined that figure was "grossly exaggerated." He believed the club lost money, but how much had not been disclosed as yet.

Here inspecting a maple floor already made up by Jencraft for the Kerrisdale Arena, Mr. Holmes had little to give out about the possibilities of "senior" hockey next winter.

Whether senior "A" or senior "B" or junior hockey would be the main attraction would depend, to begin with, on decisions reached at the May 14 annual meeting of the Mainline-Okanagan Amateur Hockey League, Kerrisdale Monarchs was one of the five teams in last year's setup.

Accompanying Mr. Holmes was J. M. Pipher, who played a leading part in organizing minor hockey at the Kerrisdale arena.

Contract for the Kerrisdale arena floor was the fourth landed by E. G. Jennens of Jencraft. He also made the floors for Kelowna, Kamloops and the new Trail Comico arena.

LIQUOR GETS TWO INDIANS INTO TROUBLE

Firewater got two Westside Indians in trouble with the law over the week-end.

Felix Swite appeared in district police court Monday to face three charges under the Indian Act. Suspend Magistrate A. D. Marshall fined him $30 and costs for being unlawfully intoxicated, $15 for failing to reveal the source of supply and another $30 and costs for being in unlawful possession of an intoxicant.

The same day the magistrate imposed a fine of $30 and costs on Angeline Abel for being unlawfully intoxicated and an additional $15 fine for failing to reveal the source of supply.

Vernon Strikes Mill Rate But Little New Work Will Be Done During This Year

VERNON—Caught between fixed revenues and soaring expenditures, the City Council has struck the mill rate for 1950, but little new work will be done during this year.

Such things as interest on debentures, public aid, sinking fund, hospitalization charges and the like will cost the city $97,576 during 1950. The administration of justice eats up $20,044, largely taken up by the police contract costing $17,644. Administration salaries are $18,410 and City Council indemnities $3,450.

Donations total $1,625; North Okanagan Health Unit grant, $2,670; Board of Trade, $1,000; Scout Hall $1,000; Junior Chamber of Commerce, $250; Vernon City Band $750.

Social assistance costs the city $10,000.

The bylaw required for the budget must be passed on May 15 so the estimates had to be brought in on Monday to enable them to be given reading at successive Council meetings and passed by the deadline.

The five members of the Council present—Alderman Fred Harwood was absent—were none too happy about the "precipitously balanced budget." The total is $533,012.09 and out of this, only about $77,000 is "free money."

"More Difficult Each Year" Commented Mayor T. B. Adams. "We can only hope that our decision is the right one. The financial position of municipalities is becoming more and more difficult each year. Unless we get some relief, I am afraid we can not hold the line in the future." His Worship said there is a fair amount of money left in the roads bylaw and a $25,000 sewer bylaw was approved by the ratepayers in December but "we have stretched our little free money pretty far."

Alderman D. D. Harris thought the Council was "quite right in holding the tax rate" at the 58-mill level. He said that in comparison with what the people can pay, the budget is pretty high.

The biggest boost in city revenue comes from the one percent share of the three percent Social Security Municipal Aid Tax. Last year's estimate from this source was $60,000 but this year, based on information provided by the government, the Council has set a figure of $108,000, an increase of 80 percent.

How City Will Spend: Licence fees will provide $18,500, an increase of $2,100, bicycle and dog licences bring $2,225; road tax, $1,800; permits and fees, $4,335; government grants, $121,700, made up of the sales tax and $13,700 from the motor vehicle allotment.

Public utilities are estimated to provide $75,350, with the major portion coming from water rates, of $38,000, an increase to $7,000 over last year. Sundries total $4,917; police court fines are expected to reach $7,000, $1,000 more than in 1949, and cash on hand is $10,860.

Where will the money go? Of course the biggest individual item is for schools, $178,023, an increase of $47,797 over 1949.

The eight civic departments will spend $100,087 this year, apart from bylaw money, as follows: board of works, $69,200; board of health, $20,001; parks and cemetery, $13,001; waterworks, $31,605; fire, $25,194; electric light, $7,500; airport maintenance, $500; arena, $1,000.

CITY APPROVES TRADE LICENCES

City council Monday night approved granting trade licences to the following individuals: Howard Wilson, novelties and flowers, trading as "Howard's Surprise Counter", 1475 Ellis street; Osborne C. Steele, Deluxe Auto Court, 10 cabins, 1700 Vernon road; Art Wong, restaurant, Orchard Green Lantern, 271 Lawrence; Rose Annie Joudry, eight rooms to rent, 924 Bernard Avenue; Gilbert Denison Jukes, Red Top Auto Court, 21 cabins; and Edward John Rabone, bowling alley, 265 Lawrence Avenue.

DOUBLE CROSS IS CHARGED IN ELECTION

PENTICTON—F. D. O'Brien, president of the Yale Progressive Conservative Association, assured the annual Pro Con convention in Penticton last week that "we did everything possible to try and see that Mayor T. B. Adams, our candidate would be the only one to oppose Mr. Jones."

He was referring to the attempted coalition of the free enterprise parties which failed to materialize when C. J. McDowell, Vernon, insisted on carrying on as Yale Liberal standard-bearer.

Both Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Dolph Brown, Vernon, Pro Con vice-president reviewed the action taken by the Yale executive to effect the coalition and claimed they were given a "double cross" by North Okanagan Liberals.

Done Right Thing Delegates believed that Mr. O'Brien and his executive had done "the right thing" as they turned him as president, with Nigel Pooley of Kelowna as vice-president and Mrs. George Kingsley, Penticton, continuing as secretary-treasurer.

Due to pressure of fruit business Mr. Dolph Brown refused to accept the vice-presidency again.

In his annual report, Mr. O'Brien declared that "we had explicit assurance from the Liberal association of B.C. that no Liberal candidate would be forthcoming in Yale."

Their wishes were over-ruled by a small group, mostly in North Okanagan. They alone were responsible. The Liberals in Penticton and the southern part of the valley heaved to the line and supported, both privately and publicly, Mr. Adams."

Says Promise Broken Mr. Browne added to this that "on the strength of McDowell's promise (not to be a candidate) we (the Pro Cons) supported Mr. Morrow in the North Okanagan. Mr. Morrow was the successful candidate last year in North Okanagan provincial election."

That promise was not kept... his hand was probably forced... but he didn't come back to tell me he couldn't go through with his promise," declared Mr. Browne.

Mr. O'Brien, after re-election, stated that this would close the chapter of past incidents and the party could look forward to the future.

Oliver trotted out three resolutions, the first one asking for speakers to be brought into every district association requesting them; secondly, requesting federal headquarters to supply more notes on party topics to the presidents of the riding and thirdly, that the plight of Okanagan growers after the severe winter of 1949-50 be brought to the attention of Pro Con Leader George Drew with the request that he seek assistance at Ottawa.

George Mabey of Oliver spoke feelingly on this third resolution and reviewed past history of the Conservative party and the protection it has gained for the fruit growers of the Okanagan.

Phil Howes, provincial organizer, spoke on the need for organization along party lines and work from the "roots up".

"There is a greater interest in the Conservative party in B.C. right now than I have seen for many years," he stated.

W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. for South Okanagan, declared that many newcomers to the Okanagan never realized the importance to this valley of the Conservative party stand on protection in past years.

He urged the delegates to teach the policy of protection advocated by the Progressive Conservative party to the newcomers to the valley as the future of the Okanagan depends on the continuation of this policy.

Mr. Bennett praised the campaign last year of Mayor Adams and expressed the hope he would offer his name for the candidature again. He urged that a convention be held a year from now and a candidate chosen so that he will have an opportunity to campaign well in advance of the next federal election.

WILL MAPLE LEAFS FOLLOW IN MERCURY'S FOOTSTEPS?

Lethbridge Maple Leafs, who won the B.C.-Alberta intermediate hockey crown by defeating Trail All-Stars in Memorial Arena here a month ago and then went on to win the Western Canada title by disposing of Melville Millionaires in a tight series at Lethbridge, may be Canada's standard-bearers in the 1951 world championships.

This possibility was uncovered last week when a Calgary newspaper said the Leafs have tentatively been offered the chance to take over where the Edmonton Mercurys left off. The Merks, winners of the 1948-49 Western intermediate laurels, captured the world honors this year in easy fashion.

Mercurys also have been seen in action by Kelowna fans. They won their western title on Kelowna and Vernon ice in the finals against Melville in the spring of last year.

Should the Leafs become Canada's representatives, it is expected a few players will be added for strengthening.

BOLODROMERS TURN TABLES ON GAY WAYS

Playing on their own stamping grounds made a lot of difference as the Bolodrome quintet turned the tables on the Gay Way Five by an overwhelming count.

Averaging 263 for their five games the down-towners heaped up a 6,582 total, 1,287 better than the Gay Ways' 5,295. A month ago the Gay Ways came out on top in a challenge set at the Gay Way alleys.

The Bolodromers' all-round sparkling performance saw a high team single of 1,444 posted. Bill Pearson chalked up a nice 365 single and Rico Guidi and Joe Mildenberger ended almost neck-and-neck for the five-game individual honors. Guidi had 1,373, Mildenberger 1,370.

Scores were: GAY WAYS—Stan Matsuba 1,033, Ed Ibaraki 1,195, Mas Nakayama 996, Jim Anderson 1,104, Nick Kope 977. 1,150, 1,001, 994, 1,074, 1,076, 5,295. BOLODROME—Rico Guidi 1,373, Gene Pfleger 1,316, Allan Anderson 1,262, Bill Pearson 1,251, Joe Mildenberger 1,370. 1,444, 1,241, 1,215, 1,413, 1,251—6,582.

TWO BOWLING LEAGUES HOLD BANQUET-DANCE

Presentation of the trophies, emblematic of the championship of the men's and ladies' commercial bowling leagues at the Bolodrome, came off Wednesday night at the combined social for the two leagues.

Men's champions, the Crescents, received the Builders' Supply trophy, while the Mitchell trophy was presented to the Gay Ways, best in the ladies' division.

More than 200 five-pinnars flocked to the Legion hall for the buffet-dance that concluded the bowling season for two more leagues.

The presentation of prize monies for the men's league will come off tomorrow night at Teen Town Hall, Bertram Street, at 7:30. Election of officers for the next season also is on the agenda.

GETTING BEATEN GETS TIRESOME, SAYS PENTICTON

PENTICTON — Penticton Golf Club is going out this year to bring to Penticton the Horn-Latta trophy, won by Kelowna Golf Club for the past 10 years in a row. Captain Warren Palmer said that members intend to "arrange things" this year to bring home the trophy. He means, of course, that individual golfers in this city are practicing their putts and drives on the greens to get them down "to a science."

"We're tired of letting Kelowna tramp all over us," says Palmer.

Fish Regulations Same As Last Year; Most Closed Lakes Open Today

Little change in fishing regulations for this year is noted in the game commissions booklet, published recently.

Trout fishing in majority of the lakes opens today, though Okanagan, Osoyoos, Vaseaux, Skaha and Swan Lakes are open all year round. For the purpose of the regulations "trout" includes steelhead, rainbow, Kamloops, Brown, cut-throat and char, including Dolly Varden, Eastern brook and so-called lake trout.

Shuswap, Mara, Mabel, Adams and Sugar lakes, closed to trout fishing during the month of March, reopened on April 1.

Stream fishing in the Okanagan district again will not open until June 1, continuing on to February

Elks Red Sox Manage 5-4 Win In Close Game With Adanacs

KELOWNA 5, RUTLAND 4
KAMLOOPS C.Y.O. 9, KAMLOOPS ELKS 2
VERNON 4, REVESTOK 2
NORTH KAMLOOPS 5, PRINCETON 4

CATCHING the weatherman in his best Sunday mood so far this year, the B.C. Interior Baseball League unfurled its 1950 wares before four large home crowds yesterday. Majority of fans were not disappointed as three home clubs fashioned victories in their home openers.

As indicated above, Kelowna, Kamloops C.Y.O. and Vernon clubs came through their diamond supporters but Princeton faltered to the newly-formed North Kamloops club. Opening day in Kelowna drew an estimated 1,000 ball fans from Kelowna and Rutland, for the largest Elks Stadium gathering to date. Elks Red Sox, outfit but not outfoxed, led all the way but the Rutland Adanacs made it plenty hot for the home-towners to hold on to the narrow verdict in the last three frames.

Going down in order for the first three innings before the veteran Hank Wostrowski, the Sox found the range in the fourth inning, pounding out four doubles for a big 4-0 lead. Dick Murray's clan pushed in what turned out to be the winner in the fifth inning, when the Rutlanders found the pressure too much and committed four of their five misuses.

Base-Runners Stranded

Nicking away at southpaw Mike Bakoway all during the early stages, the Adanacs were unable to come through with the finishing touches to bring their base-runners home. The goose-egg was cracked in the sixth inning when Johnny Lingor belted out a double—his third hit in three times up—and came home on Johnny Holitzki's single.

It was Kelowna's turn to come up with faulty fielding when the chips were down in the seventh and the Ads crossed the plate three times. They had the tying and winning runs in scoring position before Bakoway struck out pinch-hitter Don Gillard to retire the threat.

Coach Paul Bach threw in three pinch-hitters in that big Rutland seventh that saw three infielders committed by the Sox and the Ads pick up a pair of bingles.

Adanacs came as close as a whisker to deadlocking the game in the eighth when Mits Koga doubled and was nailed at the plate by Wostrowski's best out—a two-bagger and the ball was relayed to catcher Ken Stewart in time for the out.

HICKORY HIGHLIGHTS—MAY

OR W. B. HUGHES-GAMES tossed the first ball as he officially opened the local season. Excited Ruler ANDY OLERICH fanned the air at the pitch while LAURIE SCOTT, ball club president, backed up the play.

Earlier, His Worship opened the envelope containing the names of the winners of the MG sports roadster draw conducted by the Elks.

Winner was ALEX OZEROFF, a PENTICTON Elk.

JOHNNY LINGOR took hitting honors with three for five. Long distance laurels went to six sluggers, each with a double.

Olerich later dipped over the field with his CESSNA 120, as he headed for PRINCETON with passenger BOB CARRUTHERS for a futile search for the plane missing a week and believed down in the Hope-Princeton area.

Beaver Ice-Bound

Beaver, Echo and Crooked lakes, popular haunts of Kelowna and district anglers, do not open until May 21. There is some doubt however, at the present time, whether some or all of them will be ready to fish at that time.

Latest report on Beaver lake, for example, was that ice 18 inches thick still covered the lake. It would take several warm days to make the lake ice-free by the May 21 opening date.

Woods and Kalamalka lakes opened on April 1 after a month's closure, but a certain area in Kalamalka around the mouth of Coldstream creek is not opening until the Kelowna municipality is closed.

Catch limit again is 12 fish daily but in no case can anyone take more trout (exclusive of steelhead) and grilse than a total of 25 pounds and one additional fish.

In other words, if five fish weigh more than a total of 25 pounds, that is all for that day.

No one is allowed to have in his or her possession at any one time more than three days' catch limit.

This year's regulations booklet again requests fishermen to report promptly the recovery of any marked trout. Manner of reporting is set out in detail in the booklet.

An innovation in this year's booklet is the inclusion of several paragraphs on the care and preparation of fish after capture. In providing the information the booklet states, "Fish spoil very quickly on a warm day and if not properly cared for they may be unfit to eat by the time you reach camp."

VOLLEYBALL TITLE WON BY KELOWNA

Kelowna Senior High School girls' volleyball team Saturday night at Vancouver won the B.C. high schools championship, defeating the defending champs from Fairview School of Commerce, Vancouver, 15-6, 15-6.

The triumph marked the third time in as many years that KHS have gone into the final against the Fairview clan. But in 1948 and 1949 the local bids were turned back by the smooth Vancouver girls.

The Okanagan title-holders marched through the B.C. play on Friday and Saturday without a loss. They dumped Queen Elizabeth, Surrey 21-11 in the preliminary round and then knocked New Westminster's Trapp Tech out of the running 21-10.

In their next match the Kelowna lassies, coached by physical education teacher, Mrs. Eileen Ashley, trimmed University Hill 21-2 to go into the semi-finals.

Maple Ridge was stung 15-3 and 15-7 as the Kelowna girls went into the final against Fairview.

On the new B.C. girls' championship team were: Alwilda Minette (captain), Betty Caldwell, Gladys Skalen, Lois Dunlop, June Minette, Mary Brockman, Pam Nakamura, Gloria Koide, Yoshi Furukawa, Leonie Reed and Eleanor Fugger.

MOTORCYCLE CLUB NEWS

By WIN GAUVIN

Sunday, April 16, the Kelowna Motorcycle Club held the annual round-the-lake run. This year, unlike others, nature decided to be good to us with clear, warm weather.

Usually rain, sleet and lots of mud is the order of the day but this year the boys found the road in excellent condition and only one of the riders reported having difficulty with a mud hole.

Checking out a minute apart from the westside ferry wharf, the boys started on their 101-mile course minus their watches and speedometers.

Given a variety of average speeds and checked at many points along the route, minutes late or early meant valuable points lost. A handsome trophy donated by the American Motorcycle Association went to the winner—Ray Barber. Carl Nishi, Jack LeCain and Charles Gauvin placed second, third and fourth respectively, all of whom shared a fair-sized purse.

Once again it will go down in the log book that a good time was had by all.

NOVELTY STALL OPENS IN CITY

A continental air was brought to the city over the week-end with the opening of an out-door shop dealing expressly with souvenirs. The gaily decorated stall is situated immediately north of the bus depot on Ellis Street.

Sparkling jewelry in the latest designs were reminiscent of colorful Europe with their exquisitely wrought styles. Bracelets, necklaces and ear-rings are at fabulously low prices. Flaming Opopogos leered in brilliant colors from hand-painted ties reminding the owner of Kelowna and Okanagan Lake.

All the color and gaiety of sunny Mexico was also contained in the tiny stall in fabulous hand-made pictures of beautiful tropical birds... the plumage wrought of colorful feathers.

Greeting Cards
Greeting cards and hasty notes were also a prominent feature on the stall and ranged from cut children's notes to lovely cards depicting flowers in season will also be featured on this "Surprise Counter."

Proprietor of this novelty stall is Howard Wilson, well-known local figure, who is crippled with arthritis. Mr. Wilson will operate his stall throughout the summer months.

Chartered accountants of the Interior of B.C. met in Kelowna recently for a short conference on a regional basis.

The first session was held at the board room of B.C. Tree Fruits with fourteen chartered accountants and eight audited students and audit clerks in attendance.

REQUEST CITY MAKE REPAIRS ELLIS STREET

Two business firms, the Kelowna Builders' Supply and the Occidental Fruit Co., and a petition signed by 20 street owners, are objecting to the condition of Ellis Street, and are urging city council to take steps to remedy the situation immediately.

Last Monday night the business firms thought Ellis street should have some form of priority over other street repairs, in view of the heavy traffic to and from the industrial section. Store owners stated they are losing business as shoppers are avoiding travelling on Ellis street.

Chairman of the public works committee, Alderman R. F. L. Keller, stated there is not much the city can do until the weather warms up. He said it is not practical to lay hard-surfacing material on the roadway until the temperature rises above 50 degrees.

Dust Menace
Commenting on the fact that a lot of the dust is coming from civic centre property, Alderman Keller said this would be overcome when the city hall is constructed. At the present time the westerly winds sweep across the property, but he thought the new building will act as a wind-break.

When the road was torn up in preparation for hard-surfacing, it was hoped the material could be laid immediately. City Engineer George Meckling said:

Aldermen agreed there was little the city could do until higher temperatures prevail.

"The only answer is surface draining and a proper road bed," declared Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games. He hoped that some day the city would be able to have a road building bylaw, so as to construct roads that will stand up.

CITY FATHERS VISIT RESERVOIR

City Fathers recently made a first hand inspection of the city reservoir, following complaints from Hugh Turner, turkey farmer, that water has been seeping on his property.

Several weeks ago, the city installed a drain on the edge of his land, in the hope that this would overcome the seepage.

"I'm satisfied in my own mind that every effort has been made to correct this condition—short of spending $30,000 (for lining the reservoir)," Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games declared.

Mr. Turner's solicitor will be written to this effect.

WANT SCHOOL SIGN ERECTED

Kelowna Parent-Teachers' Association Monday night requested city council to install a school caution sign on Pendozi street, in the vicinity of Rayer Avenue school.

In view of the fact the area in question is outside the city limits, council was unable to take action, but a request will be forwarded to the provincial police to investigate the matter.

The experts estimate Canada's coastline at 14,820 miles.

Modern Cultivation Gives Garden a Close Shave

The present idea of cultivating a garden is far removed from the former practice, which inclined to the view that the deeper you could drive the cultivating tools into the soil between the crop rows, the better.

Present day teaching is that the ground should be stirred to kill weeds, and break the surface crust of soil, but never deep enough to disturb the roots of the nearby plants. This makes a lot of difference to the gardener, who no longer has to bear down on the cultivating tool in order to make it go down deep.

It also approves a sharp hoe blade as superior to cultivator teeth. The hoe should be used as a cutting tool, not as a digger. It can be drawn in a slicing motion just below the soil surface, so that it uproots weed seedlings in the sprout stage and cuts off the larger ones. It will pulverize the soil crust so that both air and water may have free entry into the soil, while the roots of the crops remain undisturbed.

This should be done after every shower or irrigation, which will tend to compact the surface soil and start weed seed to germinating. When timed correctly, it will reduce the cultivation of a small home garden to a task no more difficult than sweeping the floor once or twice a week.

Deep cultivation will dry out the soil, and may disturb the surface roots of your vegetable plants, which can do more harm than cultivation does good.

Besides destroying weeds in the space between rows, those which grow in the row itself must be pulled when tiny. This requires hand work, and is always tedious, but can be combined with the task of thinning out excess plants. Once the vegetables have become well established, hand weeding will be unnecessary.

Free air circulation in the soil has been proved to be a vital factor in the growth of plants. In properly porous soil there is a complete change of air to a depth of eight inches every hour. When the soil becomes compacted and crusted on the surface, this exchange is seriously hampered. Crust formation can be checked by various methods, including the application of a mulch, or by growing a living mulch of fescue grasses. But lacking a mulch, frequent shallow cultivation is necessary, especially after every rain.

Use the Hoe Like a Safety Razor to Cut Off Weeds and Break Soil Crust.

Sow Thick and Thin Out To Prolong Garden Harvest

At First Thinning, Give Each Plant One Inch in the Row.

In the small home vegetable garden, where a maximum yield is desired, there must be no vacant spaces in the row. The only way to insure this is to sow plenty of seed, but not too much, and thin out the excess plants.

No matter how high the germination of the seed, accidents may occur which destroy seedlings, and these must be spared to replace the losses. But unless the stand is gradually thinned, the plants may be so crowded that both quality and yield will suffer.

With some crops, especially those of which the roots and leaves are eaten, this method of planting starts the harvest weeks earlier, and substantially increases the total yield, because half grown plants pulled up in the thinning process, provide delicious servings.

Carrots, for example, can be allowed to grow without thinning until the roots are as thick as a little finger. Roots pulled at this stage will be sweeter and more tender

EDITORIAL COMMENDED BY COUNCIL

City council last week commended the editorial in Monday's Courier dealing with the second government building being constructed at Chilliwack.

The editorial was critical of the B.C. government's action in that Kelowna has never had a public building, and that government offices are scattered throughout the city.

"This calls for immediate action," declared Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games, who has interviewed government officials on several occasions regarding construction of a government building here.

The Board of Trade will be asked to once again take the matter up with Hon. E. C. Carson, public works minister.

Give the U.S. government 12 minutes and it will spend $1,000,000. It does just that the year 'round.

First Spring Garden Crop Is Appetizing Radish

Radishes are sown in almost every garden at least once. That once is enough to discourage many gardeners, because so often when the crop matures they have to throw away most of it.

The reason is the radish is one of the earlier vegetables, because it grows so fast. From seed to harvest is 20 days for the small globe type. Having rushed to maturity, it just keeps on rushing, and within a week the root turns pithy and the plants begin to think of going to seed. That's when the discouraged gardener digs most of the long row he planted and throws the roots away.

Keep in mind that the faster a variety grows, the shorter the time it remains in edible condition. The trick is to sow only as much as you can use during that short period, and make another sowing to mature just when the first one bows out.

In the case of the early globe type, sow a week's supply of time which should be about six or seven feet in the row. Remember this type does not like hot weather, so stop in time to avoid that, and change to a midseason variety, which will be usable for two weeks, so two weeks' supply of them can be sown.

If you want a supply all summer, sow a late summer variety for hot weather. But frequent sowings in small lots is a good rule for all except winter radishes which take two months to mature and remain good for six weeks. They grow very large, some weighing several pounds.

One way to grow early radishes is to mix them with the seeds of parsley, parsnips and beets, all of which are slow to germinate. Not more than a tenth as many radishes as the other seeds should be used. The radishes will germinate quickly, "marking the row" where the other seeds lie, which will assist you in cultivating. Be sure to pull and eat the radishes as they mature before they can crowd the slower crops.

Harvesting the First Radishes Gives Home Gardeners a Thrill.

From the B.C. Capital

The groundwork has been laid for British Columbia to borrow through eastern investment dealers some $40,000,000 to $45,000,000 and an additional $7,000,000 for the B.C. Power Commission, it was announced by Hon. Herbert Anscomb, minister of finance.

The Minister reported that it was likely that the province would take its first loan this year in June and the amount would be between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000. Further money, to be used for general purposes, would be taken according to the needs of the government and the tenor of the loan market.

Surveys, recently completed on the Queens River by the B.C. Power Commission, disclosed that a total power potential on the river may yield 300,000 horsepower. It was announced by the premier's office.

Reforestation Program

The annual reforestation program of British Columbia is scheduled to get underway as soon as snow conditions permit, Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney announced.

The program this year calls for reforesting 10,000 acres at an estimated cost of some $300,000.

Planting has already commenced in the Campbell River area and within a short time work is expected to start in the Hillcrest area and around Great Central Lake. Some 600 acres of land in the Oyster River District, where a disastrous fire in 1923 burned over a large acreage, will also be included

Variety Concert at School Enthusiastically Received

Talented young artists were enthusiastically applauded by a near capacity audience when members of the Kelowna Senior High School Student's Council presented a gala Variety Concert last Thursday evening in the Junior High School auditorium.

Opening the star-studded review was a hilarious one-act comedy entitled "Sunday Costs Five Pesos" presented by members of the drama club under the direction of Mrs. F. G. DeHart. Taking the leading roles were Sheila Mc as Bortia, Kirk Frank as Fidel, Monica Schuk, as Salome, Jean Oker, as Celestina, and Anne Henderson as Tonia.

Selections by the Grade IX choir under the direction of Mrs. D. H. Gilmour also spotlighted the gala affair.

Guest artists on the varied program included talented pianist Merle Miller, popular baritone John Sugars and student violinist, Bob Large. Miss Miller's selections included "Etude," a study on black keys, and "Revels" by Colombatti. John Sugars' vocal solo recalled him on stage as did Bob Large's rendition of "Angel Serenade."

A recent newcomer to Kelowna, dancer Dorothy Longden's portrayal of the "Mysterious Dance" also received enthusiastic response from the spectators who recalled her to the limelight.

Forming a delightful respite from the musical side of the program was the display of tumbling exhibited by members of the senior boys tumbling group. In the rhythmic South American mood was the dance routine to the Latin American tune of "Tico Tico" presented by members of the Girls Hi-Y Club.

Vocalist Betty Manning was a featured soloist in the story program after travelling down from Kamloops where she received first place honors in the girls' solo class under 18 years in the Yale-Cariboo Musical Festival held last Thursday afternoon.

Miss Manning is also the holder of the Yale-Cariboo Musical Festival Association Cup. Climaxing the program was the hilarious western orchestra of Tony Stoltz and his Saddle Pals. Rehearsed on stage again and again to ensure their medley of western tunes, Tony and his pals provided an exciting many varied schools of art.

Anyone owning a painting, etching, wood-carving or tapestry and interested in displaying the piece of work is urged to contact the store as soon as possible.

Rotary Club Will Sponsor Successful Stage Play

Ranking with the highly successful hits "Berkley Square", "The Taming of the Shrew", "Twelfth Night" and "A School for Scandal" that have marked the annual spring presentations of the University of British Columbia's Players' Club in the past, is J. B. Priestley's recent New York success, "An Inspector Calls".

Seven talented young university students under the direction of Sidney Risk, organizer of the Vancouver Everyman's Theatre, will appear in the mystery production "An Inspector Calls" at the Empress Theatre on Saturday evening, May 20. Sponsored in this city by the Kelowna Rotary Club, "An Inspector Calls" marks the 35th annual spring presentation of the Players' Club.

Six weeks after the formation of the first classes of U.B.C. in the old shacks by the Vancouver General Hospital in 1915, members of Professor F. G. C. Wood's English course decided to form a drama club, under the honorary presidency and directorship of Mr. Wood.

The first full length play was presented in the spring of 1916 and taken on tour of Victoria and New Westminster. Even before the university had reached its permanent home in Point Grey, the Players' Club was known throughout the province for its high standard of production, brought to communities which had little chance otherwise of seeing theatre.

Valuable Training

The Players' Club has been a valuable training ground for its student-actors. Among those making successful careers in professional theatre are Jess Adams; Bill Buckingham, director of Theatre Under the Stars; Fraser Lister, well-known for his work in the American Light Opera Company; Lister Sinclair, now one of Canada's leading radio-playwrights; Art Fitt, who last year played the lead in the London production of "The Male Animal"; Joy Coghill, at present at the Goodman Memorial School in Chicago, who has been called "the most promi-

DANNY KAYE in "INSPECTOR GENERAL"

Ferry Service
With reference to ferry service, he said the committee had been instrumental in getting the second ferry, on the ways during Easter, back in operation faster than it ordinarily would have been. The department co-operated after the Easter week-end, he said, and the travelling public welcomed the improved service. The committee is at present working with ferry authorities, in an endeavor to have the late evening service improved. That is, have no waiting durations longer than one hour instead of the present one-and-a-half hour wait.
A hole on the Cloncurry road, due to a washout on the shoulder of the highway, had also been investigated, it being a hazard to traffic and it is hoped it will be filled immediately.
C. D. Gaddes, chairman of the industries committee, said that some twenty odd members had been busy in this regard and that a sub-committee is bringing in a report on the various things vitally affecting industry.
The acquisition of Dick Parkinson plus financial assistance, had been a great boost, he added. An important pamphlet, of great interest to manufacturers, would be issued in about two weeks, said the industries chairman.
"We're going to approach everybody," said Mr. Gaddes, "and we're taking an optimistic viewpoint." Working close with the city council, the committee's objective is to add to Kelowna's industrial supremacy.
Howard Faulkner, advertising and publicity chairman, paid tribute to the tourist editorial in the Kelowna Courier and recommended that it be read by all—and acted upon. Because of a closed door policy tourists justifiably complained because "you can't get this" and "you can't get that."
Closed cafes, garages, etc., is no way to treat tourists. "We should make them happy, please them all we can, and then let them pass the good word along," said Mr. Faulkner. It had been recommended that the half-day weekly closing be abolished in the summer, to cater to tourists, he said.
Tourists Situation
Bert Johnston, chairman of the tourists and information committee, said that their work was mainly liaison with tourists and advertising. An erroneous report had appeared in the Portland Oregonian, said the chairman, regarding passport regulations suggesting that it was most difficult to enter Canada.
This had been looked into, he said, and a retraction had been made. All committee members are keenly interested in tourists, and they were going to be busy, and need money.
Something "big" is on the agenda, he said, "and will be worth while to everyone who revealed at the next quarterly meeting."
The agricultural-suburban committee chairman, K. R. Young, mentioned the Black Mountain irrigation scheme which had been discussed and a recommendation passed that a full investigation be made. Parking meters had also been discussed and views expressed accordingly.
With regard to the fruit industry, Mr. Young said that prices are low and the damage done to stone fruits represented a major disaster, peaking on behalf of local producers, Mr. Young said that "we should look out for them as much as possible."
President Montell stated that "we want fruit growers and farmers in our Board of Trade and they are very welcome."
Claude McClure then reported on the Retail Merchants Bureau committee, stating that parking meters had been discussed and the dust problem on Bernard Avenue debated.
Les Wilson reported on behalf of E. Poole, chairman of the national affairs committee. He made reference to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce radio adventure story featured over CKOV. Consisting of a series of thirteen presentations, the "Danny Marston" plays portrayed our Canadian way of life and were both educational and entertaining.
Local Ambulance
Speaking with regard to airport committee activities, Mr. Wilson stated that H. Faulkner and himself had flown to Kamloops at the recent C.P.A. opening and had met officials. The Kelowna airport had been discussed and the possibility of using it in the C.P.A. service would be considered.
Claude McClure reported again in the absence of civic affairs chairman G. D. Imrie. The ambulance situation was being studied, he said also representation of garages at regular executive meetings and licence fees on a comparative basis with other centres.
The meeting also welcomed the announcement that parking facilities in the arena were open to all.

JAYCEES FAVOR EASTSIDE ROAD

PENTICTON—Question of which would be more desirable—a Penticton-Kelowna eastside road through Naramata, or a Kelowna-Westbank bridge—is still drawing a great deal of comment here. Latest group to record an opinion is the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Jaycees accepted a report of their highway committee that the proper authorities be approached to construct an eastside road to Kelowna and that the government refrain from constructing the bridge.
In making its report the highway committee considered that highway facilities in the Okanagan are inadequate for present traffic and the traffic problem will be greatly aggravated by tourists using the Hope-Princeton highway.
